

Ongoing bullying led to the school discipline of a student when a report revealed his plan to beat up a child after school.

A report received revealed a gun on an elementary school bus, leading to it being confiscated.

Threats of a planned school attack were averted after a report gave law enforcement enough information to make an arrest.

A video of a fight was sent in with a mobile app report, leading to the investigation and discipline of all students involved.

A sex-offender was arrested when a 14 year old girl told of disturbing messages received on social media.

A reporter told of an adult who was selling drugs to middle school students, which led to an undercover police investigation.

A knife was removed from a student's backpack after a report described the weapon's whereabouts.

When violent threats toward school staff were overheard, a student made a report.

A report provided detailed information about a high school student who was selling drugs nearby the school.

Students reported sexual misconduct in the hallways of a middle school, leading to an investigation.

A student sent contact information and photos of an adult male who was harassing, stalking, and bullying her via cell phone.

A concerned friend reported that a young man was cutting his arms and legs while threatening suicide event.

A report provided information surrounding drugs and hazing incidents involving school athletes.

A student sent contact information and photos of an adult male who was harassing, stalking, and bullying her via cell phone.

A concerned friend reported that a young man was cutting his arms and legs while threatening suicide.

Citations were issued after a report of a party in progress involving underage drinking.

School officials intervened and prevented a knife fight after a reporter gave details of the planned event.

Concerns of inappropriate contact between a teacher and students led to an investigation and dismissal of the teacher.

A student reported severe bullying of a 9 year old girl, leading to the bully being charged and convicted of 3rd degree assault.

The report of a planned gang fight stopped it from occurring and led to school disciplinary action for those involved.

Threats of a planned school attack are posted on social media, prompting a report which results in an arrest.

A report of a student being abused at home leads to a Department of Human Services intervention.

Concerns of inappropriate contact between a teacher and students led to an investigation and dismissal of the teacher.

A report provided information surrounding drugs and hazing incidents involving school athletes.