

CVS90

Convenience, accessibility and cost savings with OptumRx home delivery or CVS Pharmacy® for 90-day supplies of maintenance medications.

Pharmacy programs and tools, combined with expert clinical support, simplifies member care and helps improve satisfaction.

Members want options when making purchasing decisions — including decisions about where and how to get their maintenance medications. Whether it's the convenience of home delivery or consultations with a pharmacist at their local drug store, OptumRx and CVS Pharmacy® offer both options through the CVS90 program.

By offering convenience, accessibility and better cost-saving options for both home delivery and retail pharmacy experiences, you not only meet members' expectations — you simplify their care.

How the CVS90 program works

CVS90 allows members to choose how they get 90-day supplies of the maintenance medications they take regularly:

Delivered to their home, office or another location with free standard shipping

In person at about 9,900 CVS Pharmacy locations

Whichever option they choose, members pay the home delivery cost share for a 90-day supply, which is often lower than the cost share for three 30-day supplies.

Just as important, they're more likely to adhere to their medication regimen. Members who switch to a 90-day supply end up getting an average 2.1 more maintenance prescription fills (60 days' worth) because of a better filling experience — resulting in improved medication adherence.¹

Supporting member health and wellness

This 90-day pharmacy program can help increase member engagement and improve health outcomes by integrating our leading pharmacy and synchronized clinical solutions along with CVS Pharmacy in-store health and wellness capabilities, delivering a convenient and integrated, easily accessible health care experience.

The program helps members on their path to better health and wellness by serving their pharmacy preferences and delivering the right level of pharmacy and adherence support.

"Our decision to offer the CVS90 program was rooted in our desire to assure employees flexibility and choice when it comes to filling their prescription medications. In our experience, offering options for employees reduces disruption; granting both OptumRx home delivery and CVS Pharmacy retail locations for 90-day maintenance medication fills has improved employee satisfaction while preserving financial stewardship."
